OUR BOOKS

For storytelling books, we will focus on value and manners books. For academics, we will use the Wonders curriculum, along with Grade 2 math textbooks and worksheets for science and social studies. Fun and lively classroom discussions are expected every day.

OUR CHANTS

Our chants focus more on practicing social skills and ESL. "It's a Small World After All" is our best choice to sing this month, and it also provides the first total physical response while singing. These chants promote values of knowledge, unity in the world, and the joy of being a kid.

OUR ACADEMICS

We are all excited to meet Muffy and Mifi, our goldfish pets for our Science Living Things project. We will focus on how to be responsible in taking good care of pets, animals, and any living things. Math projects will concentrate on multiplication and counting practice using a modern approach (not using a calculator). English and Creative Arts will focus on building social interaction and active learning through exercises, worksheets, and role-playing. Social Studies will focus more on arts relevant to September events and understanding the importance of waste management.
