LANGUAGE ARTS

Reviews and practicing of sight words and reading fluency, constructing simple short sentences, and discussing reading content and story understanding.

MATH

Continuing our practice of counting in tens and ones, and listening to subtraction story problems. Experimenting with different methods of solving problems to find which methods suit us individually (e.g., hundreds chart, cubes, counters, etc.).

UOW

As we looked at various cultural traditions and events around the world, we have been pointing out what we see and guessing what an event could be about before actually learning. Students have discussed why they think that, using hints in attire, decoration, color, and so on. Now, students are using that knowledge to create their own event or tradition. How would they represent it visually?

ARTS

Discussing color theory and experimenting with mixed media to contribute to our UOW art project.
